

20th ESPD Annual Meeting

12 – 14 May 2021
VIRTUAL

PD Dr Stephanie Christen-Zäch, MSCI, MBA

Head of Pediatric Dermatology Unit
Departments of Pediatrics and Dermatology
Children's Hospital Lausanne University
Centre Hospitalier Universitaire Vaudois
Switzerland

Stephanie Christen-Zäch is privat docent and head of the pediatric dermatology unit in the departments of dermatology and pediatrics at the University Hospital Lausanne. She received her medical degree from Basel University, followed by a residency in dermatology and venereology at the University of Basel and Lausanne. She is a board certified dermatologist and performed a fellowship in dermatopathology at the Harvard Medical School with Philippe McKee. For three years she was a fellow in pediatric dermatology at the Children's Memorial Hospital, Chicago with Amy Paller and Anthony Mancini and completed a master of science at the Northwestern University in the field of Clinical and Translational Research. She received diverse awards and research grants leading to numerous publications. She is the secretary of the European Society for Pediatric Dermatology, president of the pediatric dermatology training program committee active member of the European task force on atopic dermatitis, honorary member of the French society for Dermatology and Venereology, expert for the phacomatosis network Romandie, as well as past president of the Swiss group for pediatric dermatology. Her translational research focus is on atopic dermatitis and on Line-field Confocal Optical Coherence Tomography.

