IACAPAP 2018 Abstracts Submission Guidelines

General Information & Deadlines

1. All abstracts submitted for the IACAPAP 2018 Congress MUST be submitted electronically via the online submission system by the given deadline 31 December 2017.

Abstracts received via fax, e-mail or received after the deadline will not be accepted and will not be considered for the program or publication.

All abstracts must be submitted in English as English is the official congress language.

2. Abstracts must be submitted into one of the scientific topics, which must be selected to best match the abstract content. The list of topics is to be found further in the document.
3. Abstracts are to be submitted into one of the six different session types. The submitter needs to select a correct abstract submission type and only then may proceed with the submission:

- Free Papers

Free papers are intended for the presentation of new research data or other scholarly work. Authors may choose from two commonly used types:

- Oral paper (15 minutes incl. discussion) – multiple oral presentations will be scheduled in sessions with presentations on similar topics. If your paper is not selected for an oral presentation, you may be offered the option to present your work as a poster
- Poster presentation – posters will be on display for one day of the congress

- Workshops

A workshop is a submission of a whole 75-minute session. Workshops should be interactive and provide instruction in a set of clinical, research or educational skills. The information presented should be scholarly and evidence-based, with reference to the relevant literature. Workshops may be led by one or more presenters, who should all appear among the abstract authors. The workshop chair submits one overall abstract.

- Special Interest Study Group

A special interest study group is an opportunity for networking and discussion among attendees who share a practice setting or academic interest. The chair is expected to provide learning objectives for the session, introduce the topic and facilitate discussion. He/she should submit one abstract describing the 75-minute session.

- Media Theatre

An open 90-minute discussion on a topic based on multimedia presentation (motion picture, documentary, video tape, music or other form of media relevant to child and adolescent mental health. The media theatre organizer is expected to suggest both the video and the theme to be discussed by his colleagues (submitted as authors) together with the public attending the session. The session should provide an opportunity for open discussions.

- Research Symposium

A research symposium is a submission of a whole 90-minute session, where the chair submits one overall abstract describing the session and 4 – 5 abstracts of concrete presentations, which will form the session. It should present new research data on related topics, with an overarching theme that is discussed by the chair. The new research should be described with reference to the relevant literature. It is permissible but not required for the chair to give one of these presentations. Approximately one-quarter of the time should be devoted to questions and discussion.

- Academic Perspective

An academic perspective is a submission of a whole 90-minute session, where the chair submits one overall abstract describing the session and 2 – 3 abstracts of concrete contributions which will form the session. Academic perspectives generally do not present new research data, but provide complementary or opposing perspectives on a pertinent clinical, educational or advocacy issue that is introduced by the chair. The information presented should be scholarly and evidence based, with reference to the relevant literature. It is permissible but not required for the chair to give one of these presentations. Approximately one-quarter of the time should be devoted to questions and discussion.

4. Once the abstract is “submitted” (through the “submit” button) it can only be amended on written request to the IACAPAP 2018 Congress Secretariat no later than 31 December 2017.

IACAPAP 2018

23rd WORLD CONGRESS OF THE INTERNATIONAL ASSOCIATION
FOR CHILD AND ADOLESCENT PSYCHIATRY AND ALLIED PROFESSIONS

5. All abstracts will be reviewed by the IACAPAP 2018 Scientific Committee, who are to consider the formal aspects and the quality of the content. They will decide which abstracts will be accepted and may reconsider the final presentation type.
6. A rule of three: Each delegate must not present more than three abstracts at the congress. However, the number of submissions is not limited. Should an author have more than three abstracts accepted, a co-author must be named as presenting author for the fourth and subsequent abstracts, otherwise withdrawn from the program.
7. Accepted abstracts will be published in the IACAPAP 2018 Proceedings. Abstracts not suitable for display will be rejected. Please have your abstract checked for correct spelling, punctuation, grammar and formal structure.
8. Authors are fully responsible for the abstract content. If the abstract is accepted it would be published in the very form it has been submitted by the submitter. It is therefore recommended to check the abstract carefully - after the submission deadline no further changes may be taken under consideration.

It is not recommended to use any diacritical symbols.

9. The submitter is automatically considered to be the presenting author/organizing and chairing person and the contact person, too. If different people, it is to be indicated within the submission, but the submitter is obliged to inform the IACAPAP 2018 congress secretariat, too.
10. All presenting authors will receive an acceptance/rejection notification via e-mail within February 2018.
11. All presenting authors are obliged to register by 21 March 2018.
12. Disclosure of potential Conflict of Interest: If, within the past two years, an author or immediate family member has had a substantial personal financial relationship relating to the support of the abstract, this relationship must be described. Such relationships include salaries, ownerships, equity positions, stock options, royalties, consulting fees and honoraria for speaking, material support and other financial arrangements. During the abstract submission process, you will be asked to disclose any potential conflicts of interest.
13. The abstract must not have been published before.

Young Investigators and LMIC Delegates Support

- Young Investigator, Student, and Trainee Submissions
IACAPAP highly encourages and supports program submissions from young investigators and presenters, defined as those with bachelor's level degrees, students, and current trainees (residents, fellows, and post-docs). Presenting authors who meet this criterion should indicate this by checking the "Student/Trainee Submission" box. The Program Committee highly recommends that all Student/Trainee applications be reviewed and approved by a senior co-author/mentor prior to final submission.
- Adopt a Delegate Program
IACAPAP 2018 offers an opportunity to Lower and Middle-Income Countries (LMIC) delegates to be adopted by High Income Country peers or companies-sponsors. Should you be interested in the program or should you have such person among the presenters within your session do not forget to indicate your interest in the "Adopt a delegate program" when submitting your abstract.

Each applicant must fulfil special application conditions. The conditions and more information about the "Adopt a Delegate Program" are to be found on the congress website, in a relevant section.
